TRADITIONAL BEACH CEREMONY

INTERCONTINENTAL
BORA BORA RESORT & THALASSO SPA

TRADITIONAL BEACH CEREMONY

This Polynesian traditional Ceremony takes place on a private white sandy beach covered by colorful flowers and coconut palms

You will be dressed up with white pareus in the privacy of your villa by one of our dancer.

An outrigger canoe, especially decorated for the occasion will pick you up from the private pontoon of your villa, and take you to the place of the ceremony, where the Priest, dancers and musicians await you. There is nothing quite like hearing the sound of the “Pu”, traditional shell, while arriving on the beach.

The Priest unifies the couple in the pure Polynesian tradition in Tahitian language. He joins the couple's hands with a piece of sacred “Auti”, which is a coconut leaf, and blesses them by pouring sea water as a sign of unity. He then gives to the couple flower necklaces & crowns, which they exchange as they exchange their vows. They are then baptized with Polynesian names and receive a wedding certificate.

Dancers surround the couple with the traditional “Tifaifai” (Polynesian wedding quilt), which symbolizes their union, and the Priest gives them the last benediction.

The couple is introduced to Polynesian dancing and enjoys this show with two Punch served in real coconut.

The couple is then escorted back to their villa, where they will celebrate their union with a delicious wedding cake and a bottle of Champagne.

CHAPEL CEREMONY

CHAPEL CEREMONY

The ceremony takes place in our exclusive overwater Glass-bottom Chapel, ideally located in front of the unique “Mont Otemanu”.

Your Wedding Coordinator escorts you to the Chapel, where the Priest welcomes you with the sounds of ukuleles and Polynesian love songs sung by the cast of musicians and dancers who are expecting you outside of the Chapel.

Mixing traditions and local touches, the Master of Ceremony unifies the Bride & Groom using “Auti” leaves, pure water, flowers necklaces and crowns and a “Tifaifai”, symbols of their Polynesian union.

You are then baptized with Polynesian names and receive your “Tapa” wedding certificate.

The Priest surrounds you with the traditional “Tifaifai” (Polynesian wedding quilt), which symbolizes your union, while he gives you the last benediction.

After the nuptials, local people perform typical Polynesian dances and songs for you to celebrate your love.

You are then accompanied back to your villa. A wedding cake and a bottle of Champagne are setup in a romantic atmosphere on the terrace of your villa.
